Schools news

A GROUP of children from a Limehouse school enjoyed a day of debate at one of the country's top universities. Six pupils from years 5 and 6 at Cyril Jackson Primary School visited Clare College, Cambridge where they learnt new skills with members of the Cambridge Union Society. The youngsters are members of the school debating team and spent the afternoon training in British Parliamentary debating with members of the renowned society. Head teacher Gillian Kemp said: "Our aim is to impress upon our pupils that through hard work, dedication and determination they can achieve anything they choose to do. And by standing in the footsteps of prime ministers, presidents and leading international leaders it is hoped our children will be inspired to view the world as their oyster."
